

FULL CYCLE FARMING PROJECT

URBAN FARM

About:

Lorain County Community Action Agency identified a need to provide fresh foods to the surrounding area. Full Cycle Farming can improve chronic disease and other health disparities in minority and low-income communities. Therefore, they used the Healthy Places Grant to empower, provide, and educate the residents of Lorain County with fresh produce and create a sustainable source of food by:

- Installing a greenhouse, hydroponic system, and composter for a full-cycle farm

The Full Cycle Farming Project will have a long-lasting impact on the community by developing the knowledge around farming, enhancing local institutions, and promoting environmental suitability and facility market access.
